

PROBLEM SOLVING

Using the OGEO portal allows O&G members to seek help and address business problems using Earth Observation. Users can find new suppliers, win new customers, share experiences and seek practical advice for all application where remote sensing and earth observation can offer a solution or offer a business improvement.

The Portal provides forums for posing and responding to questions. It has a knowledge centre - a wiki - where knowledge and information can be stored and searched for. It contains success stories, coming from those who have done business and solved problems.
